A Christmas Appeal

At this season of the year, the keynote of which is "Good Will to Men," the thought of the sick and suffering, shut off, as they are, from so much of the Christmas cheer, must come to every sympathetic heart.

The Beth-El hospital stands out on the snowy plains and cannot plead its cause in person. In common with all similar institutions Beth-El cares for many charity patients and some weary "shut-ins.". While this is a privilege and no other course can be pursued, it adds to the expense. Hence an appeal in behalf of it-needs.

We will gratefully appreciate any gift, large or small, to be used in meeting the current expenses. These must go on whether the hospital is empty or full. We hope our call for assistance will be heard, and that while the hearts of the people are full of kindness, we may receive a generous response from the citizens of Colorado

Checks payable to Beth El hospital however small. will be welcome, and, however large, will be wisely used. -WALTER MORRITT,

SUPREME COURT TO REVIEW CASE

PHONE COMPANY MUST GIVE BOND

Grant Injunction to Denver Subscribers

DENVER, Dec. 20.-Judge Dentson of the district court today refused to grant a temporary injunction against the Mountain States Telephone & Tel egraph company, restraining it from disconnecting the telephones of persons who had refused to pay the exhad tendered payment in accordance with the so-called Brown ordinance which provided a lesser rate.

The court, however, ordered the telephone company to sive bond in the sum of $160,000 until the case can be reviewed by the state supreme court and that this amount which is to be indemnity to telephone subscribers in event the Brown ordinance te austained, shall be increased by a like amount every three months, until final adjudication of the case.

The injunction was denied by Judge Denison on the grounds that the difference in rates between the Brown ordinance and the present scale was to great that it would work a severa injustice on the company if the company's contention that the Brown ordinance is illegal be sustained by the higher courts, and that, in which event. the company would have no tangible recourse against the aubscribers, while the subscribers would be simply pro tected by the bond which was demand ed. 'THE RAINBOW' IS A RARE AND DELIGHTFUL COMEDY

Henry Miller and Ruth Chatterten-Seth Near Perfection Share Equal Honors in Thomas Play.

Heary Miller and Ruth Chattertonstor, the other young, both in years and stage experience. But it nould be hard to say which exsels in "The Rainbew," Both come near the goal. perfection, and the most fearless probably will say that they share honors

As "Nell Sumner, Mr. Miller given a characterisation fully ranking with that of "Staphen Ghent" in "The Great Divide" and of the "Old Musi-The failure of Gen Francisco Villa clan" in "The Climax." It almost seems superfluous to comment on the cause of his reluctance to leave the career has been crowded with sucforces of Gen. Salvador Mercado and Cevres. His work, if anything, is big-Gen. as it is rare The story is of a rich man long separated from his wife. His daughter, "Cynthia." he has not seen since a tot in pinafores when auddenly her mother returns bringing the "baby." a winsome, beautiful girl of 17. One can easily imagine the situation ereated when the girl seeks her "Daddy" and is introduced by "Summer's" sister. who says, "Nell Sumner, let me introduce your daughter ('ynthia." It is a case of love at first sight-the girl's admiration for her "most handsome" father is reflected in the suddenly awakened love of the lanesome man

But the mother, fearing the influence of "Sumner's" / areless companions, whom he has found since his separation takes the girl away. And this pathetic scene in the second act really is the climax of the play. The girl Roes for but a day as she thinks, the father gives her up forever And while he laughs and tells her 'goodhye''later upon her insistence changing to au revoir -he hides a heart that is breaking. The dialogue is couched in a comedy vein because of 'Canthia's' innotence of the future

Mr Miller Supurb.

Mr Millers acting in this scene is superb, keeping a suggestion of tragic pathos beneath a surface of comedy ever before his audience. He makes the episode most intensely dramatic And Miss thatterton the delightful, sweet mirt is excellent as the loving daughter bidding farewell to her father whom she is lesting outenuible for a

A CITY THAT GIVES

AND judge not, and we shall not be judged and condemn not, and ye shall not be condemned release, and ye shall be released: give, and it shall be given unto you; good measure, pressed down, shaken together, running over, shall they give into your bosom. For with what measure ye mete it shall be measured to you again. (Luke

Is there anywhere in the nation a city the size of this that gives more generously than does Colorado Springs? Think of the thousands of dollars that, during the past year, have been contributed to one worthy cause after another! It was only a year age that the Colorado College fund was being completed. And since then there have been many others: the Young Men's and Young Women's Christian Associations, the Associated Charities, the Boys' Club, the Mill Street club for girls, the Day Nursery, the Visiting Nurses Association, the Playgrounds Association, and now Sunnyrest, and in addition to the funds for the regular church activities and for the special revival services.

but the promise is that those who give generously shall be generously rewarded. If Colorado Sprhigs gives liberally to such cares as those enumerated above, the reward will be even more liberal. With what measure the city gives to the moral and spiritual upbuilding of the people it shall be measured to the city again pressed down, shaken together, running over.

If it has at times seemed that there were 355 many deciands upon the people, just com der for a ulfandut what this money done. It has strengthened the work at Colorado College and Colorado College trains for higher and better citizenship the young men and women of the entire state. It has kept open the splendid buildings of the Young Men's and Young Women's Christian Associations, and these two are the most potent forces for the upbuilding of the physical, social and spiritual interests of the young men and women of the city.

It has enabled the Associated Charities to continue its splendid work for the amelioration of the conditions of those unfortunates who through accident or illness have tasted of the very dregs of poverty and want. It has made possible the opening of work for the girls in the south end that has given them clean amusement and healthy recreation. It has continued the work of the Boys' Club in its education of the young manhood of the city in those things that make for better men.

It has, at the Day Nursery, done an untold work for good among the babies and their mothers. Through the Visiting Nurse Association it has visited the sick and suffering and ministered to their needs. At Sunnyrest it is restoring to health men and women who otherwise would soon die, And, in addition to all this, it has kept open and husily at work all our churches, the soul and center and inspiration of all this splendid activity:

The man who grows satisfied with what he has done, who spends all his time thanking God that he is not as other men, is the man who receives God's severest condemnation. And the city is like the man; it cannot afford to indulge unduly in selfcongratulation. And so with Colorado Springs. It must not be satisfied with what has been done. In spite of all the good work of the year, much that could and should have been done has been left undone. Next year must see greater works than 1913 has seen.

And yet, in spite of all that, as Christmas day approaches, may we not all rejoice that there has been manifested so generous a spirit of giving? May we not thank God that all these splendid agencies for good have been enabled to continue and to entarge their work? May we not take courage for the future in the fact that practically, every citizen of Colorado Springs, rich and poor, old and young, has given to some one or all of the funds that have meant so much for the uphuilding of the city?

Surely not one of all those who have given, and given in the spirit of God, but will reap the promised reward. That reward docal't necessarily come in the form of more money-, money is the very poorest quickened sympathies with all good causes, in an enlarged sense of brotherhood, in a deeper knowledge and love of God. And as these rewards come to the individuals who give, will they not result also in vastly deepening and enriching and strengthening the higher life of the city?

The opportunity to give is one of God's greatest gifts to men. Those who want to see Colorado Springs made better and richer, then, can hope for no greater thing; than that, in the year to come, there may be, not less, but more, opportunities for giving. "For with what measure ye meteit shall be measured to you again."

A TIME FOR CAUTION

NEARLY three months have passed since the beginning of the coal strike in the southern district, yet a settlement is apparently as far away as ever. Conditions have not improved; in some ways they have grown worse. The arrival of the militia on the scene was too long delayed, and their presence has served at best only as a partial check to crime and violence.

But worse than the disorder, worse even, in the long run than the crimes which have actually been committed, is the steadily increasing feeling of bitterness. At first there were hopeful expressions on both sides that the strike might soon be settled without serious loss. But as time has passed the rancor has struck deeper into the hearts of both combatants, and now, in the absence of any hope of effective action by the Governor, the contest has resolved itself into a struggle of endurance.

The operators, of course, will not yield a point. They make no secret of their determination to crush the union if possible. They will wear it out, starve it out, scatter it to the four winds insofar as it is an organized entity. And in turn the union can only resist stubbornly with such power as its numbers and resources give it.

It is easy to understand the viewpoint of the union men. They find themselves being slowly ground between the upper and nether millstones of gubernatorial incapacity and financial power. Most of the press is against them, and thus their cause is misrepresented. The Danver Chamber of Commerce, which in all such matters comports itself as if it were the private property of the C. F. & I., has committed the business interests of the capital city to the support of the operators, and the Pueblo Chamber of Commerce has taken a like position. The mere fact that the labor men exercised their fundamental constitutional fight to assemble at the Capital to petition the Governor was twisted and misconstrued into an attempt by a violent mob to march on the state house, presumably to

It is well for the operators and their sympathizers to pause for sober reflection. No enduring settlement of this or any other great labor conflict can be obtained by the methods now in use. It is easy enough to lead a horse to water, but h is quite another thing to make him drink. The plan of destroying the miners' union by a slow wearing down process does not even promise temporary success, but if it did it would be futile in the long run. Such a settlement would last only until the men could gain strength for another fight, more bitter and of longer duration than this one:

Let Governor Ammons cease to be dominated by political fear and the operators by prejudice and profits. Permanent industrial peace can only come when human rights and human brotherhood take precedence. Not until then will there be reasonable hope of a just and permanent settlement of a conflict which is steadily sapping the industrial vitality of Colorado.

HIS BIRTH

"And this shall be a sign to you: Ye shall find the babe wrapped in awaddling clothes lying in a manger." Luke: Chapter 2, verse 1.

So brightly shone the golden stars, O'er woodland della o'er mountain rocks; O'er grassy plains where shephelds watched, That hallowed night, their gentle flocks! But one star of the countless beamed

With dazzling light on one rude spot-That star the world holds sacred now-That light no sngel hery forgot! That spot was but a battered barn. With broken doors and shattered roof; Within all strewn with govres, soiled straw,

From which poor steets a'en kept aloof: Rude mangers held such maisome hay. That asses e'en from it would cresp; Yet, ah, lay in one menger then.

A bonnie baby boy seless! The babe clad not in silk or lace, Lay "wrapped in swadding clothes" and straw Not as dear babes sleep, jet was He, The dearest babe all sorids e'er saw: On His wee lips a wondrous smile

Beamed, as He sispt in that bed grim; For, all sweet angels from above, Were breathing loving words to Him! His dimpled hands were claspt athwart His little, tender breest of white: While o'er His durling heart there gleaned,

A halo of resplendent light: and o'er that rugged : " a thi while, Thro' all its mangers, stalls and bars-Ney, o'er all earth, fond angels sang. Joined gladly by the tappy stars; 'All parce on earth, good will to men! Buch music never hat & before: And heard not now but, ah, the words, Are held by Faith in micer store!

That bonnie baby-boy was Christ! In that rude manger He had birth; A glorious birth that gives blest Heaven: To every trustful soul on earth!" If twere not for that birth what hope Of Heaven for us could ever be? If tween not for His cruel death, What faith in our Eternity? O, , tottal h sets, rejoice, today

Thro all the world let golden bells Ring Joyous hymns of faithful worth! AU MAM GLENDINNING.

Talks on Thrift

Men who have successed in husiness have done so through gainful alto of a relatively large per cent of their energy, time, money and of natural resources. Men who have failed in business have gone down beususe of too much waste. -A. F. Sheldon.

One great secret of success is the elimination

The history of every great and successful industry is just a record of conservation of human energy and natural resources. Every step in the development of production, transportation, communication and merchandising has been made by reducing wastes. In other words, successful captains of industry, as well as successful individuals are those who are able to take a broad view of the matter of economy and see its significance on a large scale.

And this applies not only in the field of domestic or personal finances and in commercial circles, but also in the realm of municipal, state and national government

What is becoming a general opinion of the independent press is expressed thus by the St. Paul

"The average Jaxyayer will extract but little satstaction from the knowledge that higher taxes for next year will be the rule in most of the large cities of the country. On the contrary there is in this announcement something symptomatic which should be alarmine. The frenzy for spending to an epidemic which must be sheeked at all bazards."

. Other indications of the way the wind is blowing are the efforts of John A. Hennessy, the New York state investigator, who is trying to save money stunday a harmless snake crawled around leisure- for the people of the state; the fact that United Blates custom bouse collectors, deputy collectors Minois committee

So the leaven of economy in governmental affairs is working. It will be a better day for all of us when private catizens and public officials alike know what true comony is and practice it. T. D. MACGREGOR.

JOHN DELLZ ASKS FOR HABEAS CORPUS

MADISON, WIR. Dec. 20,-Attorney General Walter C. Owen was served today with an application of John F. Deitz, the so-called hero of Cameron Dam, now in the penitentiary; for a writ of habeas corpus from the federal court of the sastern district. The application will be heard December 27 at Milwaukee by Judge Geiger.

When the application was made Judge Geiger decided to hear arguments as to the reason why the writ should be issued. A peculiarity of the application is that Deits seeks aid from the federal court for release from a state prison. The application sets (forth the claim that Detre did not have a trial in conformity with the federal sonstitution; that the infountion filed was not valid and in conformity with sel and did not have the benefit of an impartial and unprejudiced hearing as

IRISH AND AMERICAN IMPRESSIONS OF BERNE

Beside the detailed reports of the proceedings at the Experanto congress some letters are at hand from individuals who attended the gathering which help to give a more distinct impression of the unique character which it possessed. On all sides is apparent the more advanced position which from year to year is accorded to the movement. No longer a suppliant for recognition it expects and receives a respectful acknowledgment of its mission One of the most distinguished of the British Esperantists, Col. John Pollen of Dublin, writing to his home maga sine, refers to the interest taken by the Swiss, when he describes the street procession, which, he says, 'created an immense sensation. All windows and colgus of vantage were crowded, and the ranks of the oplookers in the streets were some 10 or 12 feet deep, and when the army of Esperantists reached Parliament square, they found it so packed with spectators there was no room to deploy."

"Everyone," he continues, "is pleased at the businesslike manner in which the work of this congress has been got through, and at the prevalence of perfect concord. The chairs at the various meetings were occupied with great dignity and ability. Altogether it may be said that for masterly management and concentrated attention in essentials, the ninth Great Congress of Esperantists runs its predecessors very close indeed. Our Swiss brethren are indeed to be congratulated on its glorious auccess."

Useful Christmas Gifts

You may be one of the comparatively few people who select their gifts with the idea of their usefulness and real worth to the recipient. You will find here without a doubt the greatest display of such gifts. We invite your inspection. You will of course take the price into your consideration. Here you will find the values that will at once appeal to your best judgment.

Don't give presents of mere passing interest. Make them practical, of yearround, daily usefulness. Really fine China is always a source of delight to the recipient and is the one way in which your gift problems can be solved to the complete satisfaction of both parties, for China is always a sane and sensible gift.

Pader- war's Concert.

That society is going to attend Paderewski's concert at the Burns. Friday, January 2, a look at the sent chart on the walls of the Willet R. Willis salesroom attests beyond a doubt. Fault finders may knock and knock again, but never in the history of the plane has any artist go attracted to himself and entertained the musical world as has Paderewski. Planists may come an planists may to, but there will never be another personality like that of the wondermin D. Marr. Mrs. Charles S. Mor. ful Pole. The piano is considered a cold, unsympathetic instrument at its best, but Paderewski, with his marvelous skill of touch, can move his audiences of thousands to tears and laughter at will. It is quite likely that this is Paderewski's last tour of this western country and probably of the United States, and no one will want to mise this last chance of hearing
